"All over the Empire are strikes and unrest. In the smaller cities the men and women strike for better wages and industrial conditions, but in one their demands will grow into demands for greater political liberty. In the larger cities the strikers are already thundering for a change in the existing order of governmental conditions.

"St. Petersburg is to-day practically in a state of stege because of the strikes and disturbance in and all about it. Train service is utterly demoralized, and I about doned my intention of visiting the capital because of the impossibility of getting there by railroad in any reasonable time."

Mr. Cohen left Russian seventeen years ago, coming to St. Louis. He has resided here ever since and has become presperous, having one of the best carrier router in the city for The Republic.

KISS HIGHWAYMAN'S WEAPON.

Threatens Orange Woman Thus

in Demands for Money.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

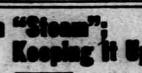

Orange, N. J., Dec. 16.—A highwayman of this city has discarded the ordinary weapon of his craft and instead employs theses to force his victim into submission. He is young, tall, and, his latest victim says, handsome and well dressed. He is at large, but the police declare they are on his trail.

at large, but the police declare they are on his trail.

Mrs. Jessie Cheeseman of Oakwood and Central avenues had an encounter with this newest highwayman while on her way home through Oakwood avenue. Her arms were filled with bundles gathered in her Christmas shopping, and as she stroke forward, her head bent to the storm, she could not see the youth, who stepped from the roadside to the path directly in front of her. The first thing she knew he had his arms about her.

Mrs. Cheeseman began to upbraid the man when he demanded money. When she refused he threatened to kiss her.

"Come on, now," he said; "money or I'll kiss you."

This other hind of steam is human "steam." And it is a most important factor in our affairs.

Some people call this human "steam" by other names. They call it "push" sometimes, or "hustle," or "get-up," or "life." Well, R's air of these, but after all it's just "steam." It's the power to do things—a seemingly threless power which some people possess.

You can call to your mind right this minute some men and women, boys and girls, perhaps, who always go about their work or play "with full steam up." They can accomplish more and do things better than other people. It's their "steam" that gives them increased power.

Malta-Vita, the perfect maited whole-theat food, fills men and women and children with the power to do things. It nakes them strong in body and mind. It keeps up their "steam."

When Maita-Vita comes from the ovens, every flake baked crisp and brown, it is the most delicious and most healthful food in the world, containing only one per cent of moisture. The other 29 per cent is nutrition. And all this nutrition is digested most readily, even by the weskest stomach, because the gelatinized starch of the thoroughly cooked wheat has been converted by fine mait extract into maltose, or mait sugar.

El Paso, Tex. Dec. 18.—Eighty-two miles through frosts, blezing sane, rugged miles and the sands of the dessert, came itias Memiora to do a kindness to a man whom he did not know.

Mendoza found a purse recently. On the lest itside it said: "My name is J. P. O'Coanor. I like at El Paso. If I am killed report to Richard Capies and Prank Powers El Paso, Tex." The pocketbook was lost at Alamogordo. N. M. It contained Silf in indersed checks.

Mendozh found the purse near the raily road track, where O'Coanor, who is a member of a contracting firm, had probably dropped it.

Mendozh tooks the purse home. There he discovered the name, the address and the instruction: "If I am killed, report to —," he read and folded up the book.

"He cannot be dead," he said to himsel. "I hope he is not dead. But here is money. He may need it. "If I am killed, he read again, report to—." Yes, he said, after a moment's hositation in which a thousand thoughts were revolving in his mind. Yes, I take it to him. I take to the house.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

New York, Dec. 16.—A large, gray cat, of backyard descent; an Ivish terrier and an aristocratic damsel in black veiver and he-plumed hat, supplied Fifth avenue with a sensation.

The aristocratic damsel and the puphe in leash-were saintering up the avenue for a constitutional. When near Thirtieth afreet the A. D. encountered her descreat friend. They stopped to exchange greetings and drifted into exciting confidences. The leash sagged from a relaxed hand and the rup surveyed the horizon in search of adventure.

It was test at this moment that the cat appeared, straving into respectable society, with the lilling gall of one who has had an overexultarated past. The pup stubby tall mounted in a straight albier brief, line. The cat's back curved ominocoly. But the women chatted on all oblivious.

Buddenly there was a him a splutter, a glimpee of flying fur, and the pun with the leash streaming after, had dashed into a vangsificent bric-s-brae sloop in hot pursuit of a flesing quarry. Amil statuse and curios and bits of rarest chim the cat made for the show window, which held an enquisite collection. The pup leaped after her, while a streaming young werean in black velves madly wrung her hands. The stubby tall encountered a fitely vase and the women hid her eyes. The flying feet landed squarely in the middle of a priceless plate, and the young woman's cries for hele became lower and londer.

By this time the entire staff of the shop had joined in the pursuit. Purs shot through space and disappeared under a counter. The sup followed, but his given was all see wide, and with his go glued to the spot he was dragged into custody again. "What are the damages?" young woman, hysterically; has wrecked the window.
